GENERATIONALLY INCORRECT · ON THE ROAD

MAN ON THE STREET

GEN. INC. EDITION

One question. Every generation. Right where they're standing.

How we turn one on-site junket into gold for the podcast.

01 · WHAT IT IS

We take the table to the street

1×

a week, on the road, with the question of the week

60s

per person: “What generation are you, and what’s your take?”

QR code that turns a passerby into a fan, and maybe a guest

Go where people are already waiting: restaurant lines on a Friday or Saturday night.

02 · COMMUNITY GOALS

Seven things one street stop does for us

01

Awareness

Every stop puts the name in front of a local crowd that has never heard of us.

02

Likes

People share clips they’re in. Each one tags their friends.

03

Subscribers

The QR scan and the clip both point back to the channel.

04

Video B-roll

Real faces and real places to cut into episodes and promos.

05

Testing topics

Ask the question on the street before we spend a taping on it.

06

Good for sponsors

The venue gets foot traffic and screen time. That’s a sponsor pitch.

07

Fuels the entire business model

Audience, guests, topics, content and sponsor money all come from the same weekly outing.

03 · WHERE WE GO

Where people already wait or gather

FRI / SAT NIGHT

Restaurant lines

A captive, mixed-age crowd with time to kill. Our first and best stop.

WEEKENDS

Fairs & festivals

Every generation in one place, in a good mood, cameras welcome.

WEEKDAYS

Networking groups

Chambers and business lunches: local names who also make good sponsors.

BY INVITE

Casting nights

Senior centers for Boomer and Silent seats, plus employer HR outreach.

Four beats, about a minute each

BEAT 1

The ask

“Got a minute for a quick debate?” Mic out, camera rolling.

BEAT 2

Pick your generation

They name their generation on camera. Instant label for the clip.

BEAT 3

The question

The question of the week. Then one push-back: “What would a Boomer say?”

BEAT 4

The scan

“Think you can defend your generation? Scan to be on the show.”

Everyone on camera agrees to appear before the clip is used. [Release method: card, QR checkbox or sign: TBD]

05 · FROM SCAN TO SEAT

A passerby becomes a guest

SCAN

QR on the mic flag

Every scan is tagged with the venue and the date.

GHL FIRST

Fan list

They land in GHL: on the fan list, tracked by venue.

INVITE

Apply

GHL invites them to apply on Erik’s Google Form, which stays the casting source.

CAST

A seat at the table

Screened, pre-interviewed, voted on by all three of us, then booked.

Bonus: we learn which venues produce the most fans and the most guests.

What one outing gives the podcast

From one outing	Target	Where it goes
Shorts	[5–10]	YouTube, TikTok, Instagram all week
B-roll	[20–30 min]	Cut into episode openers, promos and the trailer
Topic reactions	[15–25 people]	Scored on the topic board before we book a taping
Fan-list scans	[__]	GHL, tagged by venue
Guest applications	[__]	Erik’s form, into the casting funnel
Venue footage	[1 package]	The sponsor recap we hand the venue

Targets in brackets are starting guesses. Set real ones after the first two outings.

07 · TESTING TOPICS

The street decides what gets a taping

ASK

Test 2-3 questions

Rotate a few candidate questions across the crowd at each stop.

SCORE

Who argued back?

Rate each one: did people disagree, get louder, call a friend over?

PICK

Winners go to the table

The best scorer goes to the topic vote. The weak ones get dropped cheaply.

A topic that splits a restaurant line will split the table.

The venue is the first sponsor

WHAT THEY GET

“On the Road at [Venue]”

Their name in the segment title, their sign in the shot, a tag in every clip from that night.

WHAT WE GIVE THEM

A recap package

Clips they can post, plus how many people we talked to and how many scanned.

WHAT IT GROWS INTO

Paid local spots

Proof from the street becomes the pitch for an episode or season sponsorship.

Rule: every venue or sponsor deal runs through the show’s LLC, not anyone personally.

It fits the week we already run

MONDAY 7 AM CALL

Pick

Question of the week and this week’s venue. Confirm who’s going.

FRI / SAT NIGHT

Shoot

Two people, one camera, one mic flag with the QR code. About two hours.

SUN - TUE

Clip

Cut the Shorts, log the B-roll, score the topic reactions.

ALL WEEK

Post

One Short a day. Venue recap sent. New fans get their invite.

Six lanes. Every lane has an owner.

LANE 1

Host & interviewer

Works the line, asks the question, keeps it fun.

Owner: [__] · Tim can run it

LANE 2

Camera & audio

Shoots, mics people up, grabs B-roll of the venue.

Owner: [__] · Tim can run it

LANE 3

Clip & post

Cuts the Shorts, captions and posts on schedule.

Owner: [__] · Tim can run it

LANE 4

Funnel & fans

QR codes, GoHighLevel fan list, venue tags, invites.

Owner: [__] · Tim can run it

Venues & sponsors

Books the stop, sends the recap, pitches the deal.

Owner: [__] · Tim can run it

LANE 6

Casting follow-up

Turns street applicants into screened guests.

Owner: [__] · Tim can run it

Locked before the first outing

1	Question card	The question of the week plus one push-back line, same layout every week.
2	Run of show	The four beats, word for word, so any host sounds like the show.
3	Shorts template	Title format, captions, black, red and white end card pointing to the channel.
4	Consent card	The quick on-camera release, checked by the attorney.
5	QR & venue tags	One naming rule for codes and GoHighLevel tags so every venue is tracked the same way.
6	Venue recap & one-sheet	What we hand the venue after the night, and what we pitch sponsors.

Strategy agreed: Tim ____ Erik ____ Gabe ____

Five decisions to hit the road

1. First venue and first outing date: [Venue], [Date]
2. Who shoots and who clips each week
3. How people on camera give consent: card, QR checkbox or sign
4. Gear: camera, mic flag with the QR code, lights for night lines
5. What we offer venues, and whether it’s free at first

Every generation has something to say. Let’s go ask them.
